ABORIGINAL FOOTBALLERS.

Carlisle Indians May Come to San Francisco to Play.

The football team of the Carlisle Indian school, the greatest sensation in American athletics for many years, may come to California. They may meet the local elevens in some great matches about Christmas time.

The idea of bringing the Indians to this Coast originated in the mind of "Billy" Kennedy, the superintendent of the Olympic club. After reading of their wonderful struggles on Eastern gridirons, and seeing pictures displaying their physical powers, he came to the conclusion that it would be a good investment to bring the aborigines to this city, says the S. F. Chronicle.

The entire athletic East has been aroused over the splendid performances of these Indians on the gridiron. In previous years they were considered an ordinarily good team, but their achievements this year place them in the fore rank of football elevens. The first great struggle of the season was with Yale. Yale, only by the greatest exertion, were enabled to score, and then only once. Even this touchdown, it is claimed, was not earned honestly, but was allowed by the referee, who favored Yale.

Harvard beat the Indians by the same score after one of the hardest battles which the wearers of the crimson ever experienced. The touchdown was made early in the first half. From that time on Harvard, though well in the Indians' territory, could never force the ball behind the coveted lines. Toward the end of the game the Indians by the grittiest and most persistent line bucking forced the Harvard line by slow gains until there were five yards from the goal. The stand which Harvard then made is considered the prettiest bit of football work seen this season.

The character of the game which the Carlisle Indians play does not exhibit the ingenuity, skill and strategy of the best college teams. They lack generalship and concert in their play. Their great strength lies in line bucking. With marvelous endurance they hammer and hammer until all opposition gives way.

As physical specimens these Indians are pronounced marvels. All of them are full developed, powerful young men with a strength and vitality which came largely by inheritance. In all their games they were never worn out at the end of the struggle and their labors were thrice those of their opponents.

Color Blindness.

"Does a man fail to see any colors at all when he is color blind?" asked Mr. Drinkhorn, "or does he see them wrong?"

"He sees them wrong, as you call it," explained the physician. "Now, your nose, instead of appearing in its natural color, would look to a color blind person to be green."

"Green? Any particular shade?" asked Mr. Drinkhorn with the intention of being facetious.

"Yes—lottle green."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wanted the Other Kind.

The lawyer patted his client soothingly on the shoulder.

"Now, don't you worry," he said with a reassuring air. "You shall have a fair trial."

The gentlemanly burglar turned pale. "That—that's what I'm afraid of," he returned nervously.—New York Sunday World.

The Ruling Passion.

"What will Senator Sorghum do if he's defeated?"

"Oh," replied the rural constituent, "he'll git ready ter run ag'in."

"And what course will he pursue if he's re-elected?"

"Same ez usual. He'll git ready ter run ag'in."—Washington Star.
